

JONATHAN BROWN CO-HOSTS NOVA 100'S NEW BREAKFAST SHOW CHRISSIE, SAM & BROWNY

Jonathan Brown is joined by Chrissie Swan and Sam Pang as Nova 100's new Melbourne breakfast show Chrissie, Sam & Brownny.

AFL legend Jonathan Brown remains one of the game's modern icons and has made a seamless transition from football to a career in media. Brownny is a member of Fox Footy's Monday night program On The Couch and a key feature of the station's AFL coverage.

No stranger to the Nova family, Brownny has been a regular on Brisbane's Ash, Kip & Luttsy breakfast show for over 10 years, regularly filling in for the team during the survey breaks, and in February 2015 was part of Nova 106.9's Saturday breakfast show.

On the field Brownny's career was headlined by three Premierships, three Brisbane Lions Club Champion Awards, two All-Australian births and was awarded a Coleman Medal. The son of Brian Brown, a former Fitzroy player, Brownny grew up in Warrnambool and was drafted by the Lions in 1999. In 2000 he made his debut and saw finals action in his first year as a Lion. The following year he became an AFL Premiership player as the Lions secured a history making win.

In 2002 Brownny won his second Premiership medal before he produced a strong finals series in 2003, being best afield in the Preliminary Final, as the Lions won their third straight title. From 2007 - 2010 he played some of his best football, winning a Coleman Medal in 2007. Following Michael Voss' retirement, he was made Co-Captain in 2007 before taking the top job in 2009. He has won the AFLP Best Captain and Most Courageous Player awards on multiple occasions.

Brownny and his wife Kylie have three children Olivia, Jack and Macy. He released his autobiography Life & Football in mid 2015

Brownny joined Chrissie Swan and Sam Pang on Nova 100's new breakfast show in January 2016.
