NATHAN MORRIS

BREAKFAST WITH NATHAN, NAT & SHAUN

Nathan is Nova 93.7's very own ex-reality TV contestant, having shone in the second season of Big Brother.

Nathan grew up in Kalgoorlie, the frontier town of Western Australia. He is often touted as his hometown's greatest export behind the 28 tonnes of gold that the area produces every year. Kalgoorlie typically breeds them tough but somehow

Nathan managed to break the mould!

At the age of 18, Nathan left Kalgoorlie for the bright lights of Perth. He studied graphic design and advertising at university which naturally lead him to a career promoting night clubs. In 2002 Nathan caught the eye of Big Brother producers with his outgoing attitude and inexcusable fashion sense.

Nathan spent 57 days in the Big Brother house and when he exited the house he was snapped up by Nova 93.7. He started at Nova on the back of a truck, playing a game that involved rubbish bins, and his career has gone downhill from there ever since. Now an "integral" part of the breakfast team, Nathan's favourite talk topics involve Game of Thrones, online shopping and science fiction.

Nathan's greatest claim to fame - he holds the world record for the most snuggled bunnies in a hammock (the previous world record holder was Cameron Diaz). He has also taken on fast bowler Mitch Marsh in the nets, interviewed a Wookiee, swum through one hundred thousand dollars' worth of gold coins and has been collecting soy sauce sachets since 2003.
